Pest Control for Businesses

Annual Pest Control Agreements

Instead of waiting until you've already got a problem before you call us out, why not take out an annual agreement with us for a set fee.

These consist of a number of programmed visits covering rats, mice and common insects, plus interim call-outs as required. There are no hidden extras and our prices are highly competitive.

We tailor each pest control agreement to the individual needs of our clients. This personalised interaction between client and contractor offers peace of mind that any potential problems are dealt with in an effective and efficient manner.

Our annual contacts can include:

- Detailed inspection of premises and identification of pests
- Provision and Inspection of tamper resistant rodent and insect monitoring stations
- All necessary treatments for rodent and common insects
- Written report sheets, highlighting the pest control work that has been undertaken and any recommendations for the client
- Advice on pest proofing
- Servicing of electrical fly killers
- Audit visits and annual reports
- Training of client personnel in pest control awareness

Maintaining Standards

We ensure that service standards are maintained. We provide a comprehensive response to pest problems should they occur, dealt with by skilled technicians who can assess the situation and organise an appropriate treatment, employing the latest pest control methods and equipment.

Electrical Fly Killers

We can supply the latest range of high performance electrical fly killers. These range from sticky board units, which are ideal for small to medium sized areas, through to large capacity commercial units, which are designed to cover large open spaces. We can also service your EFK's, ensuring that the machines are clean, tubes are changed on a regular basis and the machines operate at the maximum efficiency. Records of servicing and flycatches are provided.

Bird Control

Bird control is a highly specialised area of the pest control industry. Our technicians can survey properties in order to identify the most effective non obtrusive bird prevention systems available within the industry.

Other Pests

We supply specialised treatment and advice for less common insects such as pharaoh ants, and for mammals such as moles.

Food Safety

Legislation concerning hygiene in food premises requires adequate procedures to be in place to ensure pest problems are controlled, to avoid the risk of contamination of surfaces and foodstuffs.

Health, Safety & Record Keeping

We guarantee high standards of health & safety and training to ensure compliance with current legislation. We provide documentation including:

- Risk Assessments
- Environmental Assessments
- Product Data Sheets

We also provide comprehensive records of visits made, actions taken and recommendations for improvements.

Lancaster University have used this pest control service for many years. The team of technicians provide an excellent service along with extensive knowledge on how to best deal with the many different types of pests you would expect within a large University campus. The technicians are friendly and appreciate the needs of our customers. In the many years I have been Facilities Manager, this pest control service has never been beaten in solving my many pest control issues.
